

2009-2010 CODE OF CONDUCT PLAYER

To fully benefit from playing amateur hockey, the player must have a positive attitude, which calls for the highest forms of fair-play. The important point is not necessarily to win or lose but the manner in which the game is played. He should never lose sight that hockey is merely a game. To gain maximum benefit from the game of hockey, a player must:

- play for fun, always remembering that hockey is a means, not a goal;
- thoroughly follow the rules of the game and the Chart for Fair-play;
- at all times, accept and respect the officials' decisions;
- respect officials, opponents and their fans who, finally, are not enemies;
- always remain in self-control in order that hockey, a robust sport, does not become violent or brutal;
- behave properly both on and off the ice, especially by using proper language and avoiding vulgar and blasphemous language;
- consider his team mates on an equal basis and offer all of them the same cooperation;
- respect his coaches and other management personnel and abide by the directives when such are not contrary to his well being;
- play with intensity without giving up after a loss and over-bragging following a win;
- respect other people's property and avoid any theft or vandalism.